THE spare-ribs and the tendons.
And juicy sausages meat,
Are now among the goodly things
The people like to eat.
And every face now has a look
That plainly seems to tell,
A first-class gobble's coming on
When rings the dinner bell.

A LITTLE cleaning would help the streets just now.

A FIDELITY TRUST Company is organizing at Lexington.

The river is rising slowly at Pittsburgh but falling at nearly all points below.

The attention of tax-payers is directed to a notice in our want column by Marshal James Redmond.

Look out for the large advertisement of Messrs. A. R. Glascock & Co., in the DAILY BULLETIN to-morrow.

Persons desiring to secure the services of Hauke's band should apply to either Mr. W. A. Cole or Mr. Phil Yago.

WILLIAM WORMALL has just received a supply of Ashland nut coal and is selling it at 12 cents per bushel, delivered, for cash.

The annual meeting of the Maysville and Mason County Bible Society will be held on Sunday evening, December, 21st, two weeks later than usual.

SIMON TRAVIS, colored, charged with attempted rape, was examined before Mayor January, on Monday, and was held to appear for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court.

A set of Dickens' works, raffled last week at Taylor's news depot, was won by Mr. George T. Tudor. The books were raffled again on Saturday evening, and were drawn by Mr. P. J. Clark.

The person who advertised for a piano in the BULLETIN a few days had a large number of applications and was able to suit himself without trouble. So much for an advertisement in the BULLETIN.

REV. MR. YOUNG preached last night at the Southern Methodist Church, and will preach every evening this week, also conducting afternoon services at 3 p.m. every day. The public is invited most cordially.

The Scottish Union and National Insurance Company, which had written a policy on the property of Mr. J. T. Kackley, settled on Friday with him to his entire satisfaction, through Mr. George W. Rogers, the loss agent.

CHARLES HARPER is on trial at Lexington, Ky., for kidnapping Sarah Yarber and Sallie Jackson from Olympia, Ky., and trying to get them into Mollie Long's lupanar, at Lexington. His confederate, Henry Mackabek, went to answer to a higher court by his own brother's hand, for assaulting their mother.

The Thomas Jackson business house, on Sutton street, has been sold by Mr. James H. Hall, Jr., administrator of the estate, to Messrs. Nesbitt & McKrell, for $3,500. It is one of the most convenient houses for business in the city, is in thorough repair, well lighted and admirably adapted to Messrs. Nesbitt & McKrell's uses. The building they will vacate is to be occupied by Mr. A. R. Burgess.

THE Lexington News says: The resignation of Capt. Henry Green as Conductor on the K. C. Railroad will be regretted by the patrons of the "Old Reliable." A more accommodating or gentlemanly official than Henry Green never took up tickets on any route, and his position will be difficult to fill with a more popular man. He has our best wishes for success in any business he may embark.

The directors of the building association have decided on the first of the year to start a new series provided four hundred shares shall have been taken at that time. If the shares are not subscribed for the new class will not be opened. The building association, we take pleasure in saying, has been carefully and prudently managed, and has been of inestimable benefit to the community. We have no doubt that the new series will be promptly filled up.

MR. SAMUEL PERLUS, an experienced tailor, has opened an establishment in the rooms on Sutton street, lately occupied by Mrs. Rosendall, and is prepared to cut, fit and make gentlemen's and ladies' clothing in the best style. He makes a specialty of ladies' riding habits, tailor-made suits, cloaks, dolmans, etc. His prices are low and he guarantees entire satisfaction with his work. Mr. Perlus worked at his business for a long time both in London and New York.

Woman's Exchange.

The ladies interested in the proposed Woman's Exchange are decided in their opinion that it will be both useless and unwise to establish it unless they are assured of a firm foundation to work upon, which foundation must be the same supporting other business ventures i.e. a firm foundation. In order to secure this they do not wish to make a demand upon the community for which the exchange will yield no return, consequently before going further wish to secure subscribers for a sufficient number of tickets to pay the expenses for one year, during which time the questions, "Is it useful?" "Will it pay?" will answer themselves. These tickets entitle the holders to enter as much work as they please during the year, upon which they set two prices, the one they want and the one they are willing to take in case the first cannot be gotten. When the work is sold they receive the money less 10 per cent., which is the commission charged for handling it. They do not wish to establish it, money or no money, unless they are sure that it will accomplish the end in view i.e., will help people who wish to help themselves who need money and are willing to work for it. Persons interested in charitable work can do double good with their tickets. By buying them they help to establish the exchange by giving them away to a woman who cannot buy for herself, they provide a means for the sale of her work. Persons who wish to sell work can see for themselves that it is to their interest to subscribe now, which they will be safe in doing, as no money will be collected until the entire number are subscribed for and the establishment of the exchange a certainty.

A QUESTION of great importance to the entire insurance interests of the United States has just been settled in the courts of Georgia, by the disposition of the surplus fund of the Mutual Insurance Company, of Athens, in that State. When this company found itself with over a million dollars of surplus on hand which it could not throw into the channels of trade because of want of ownership, it had, so to speak, a financial elephant. In looking for the precedents upon which to act, Edward Atkinson of Massachusetts, was consulted and he gave it as his opinion that neither in Europe nor in the United States had such a question ever been decided. At this point Captain Harry Jackson, son of the distinguished General Henry R. Jackson, and Mr. J. H. Lumpkin, grandson of the late Chief Justice Lumpkin, two of the most brilliant young attorneys of the State, entered as representatives of the lapsed policy-holders, claiming that they were entitled to share in a distribution proportionate to the premiums paid. The Supreme Court of the State sustained the pleas of Messrs. Jackson and Lumpkin, and ordered a distribution on that basis, leaving the court below to decide the amount which the company might retain as a prudential fund. That court has just decided that $800,000 may be so retained. The balance is to be distributed under the Supreme Court decision.

A LEXINGTON despatch says: W. W. Crawford, of Columbus, Ohio, who married Miss Kate McCann here last Tuesday, and was arrested and jailed the next day on information from the Chief of Police, of Columbus, Ohio, that he already had a wife in that city, was released from custody last night Mr. Frank McCann, the young lady's brother, went to Columbus to investigate, and was satisfied that it is another W. W. Crawford who has a wife there, and that his sister's W. W. Crawford was unmarried until he married her. Mrs. Crawford is probably the happiest woman in Lexington.

REPRESENTATIVE Money, of Mississippi, says that the people of the South are more eager for good Government than for the spoils of victory, and as a class they will not embarrass Cleveland by pressure for office, but will leave him free to conduct his Administration so as to make it a success and render the Democratic ascendancy permanent.

THE annual report of the Postmaster General shows the receipts of the Department were $2,170,565.53 less than those of last year, the decrease being attributable to the reduction of letter postage from three to two cents, which took effect October 1, 1883.

The latest from Republican headquarters is that the New York Independents will not be re-admitted to that party until they shall have done public penance and voted the straight Republican ticket at least once.

FIFTY tobacco barns, worth $400,000, have been burned by incendiaries in central Kentucky since the crop was housed.

A negro woman in Lexington, Kansas, refused to allow her child to be buried in a grave which had the "crosswise of the world."

A woman was seen recently in Naples carrying a comb on her head, chattering with a man who walked empty-handed at her side.

The Japanese girl, when she goes into company, paints her face white, her lips and the corners of her eyes with two slender strokes of paint.

A Japanese wife," says John Bu-kin, "is always nipping off from her husband's moral nature little twigs that are growing in wrong directions. She keeps him in shape by continual pruning."

The wife of the man of whom is represented as being received to the danger in which her husband constantly lives. It has increased, she says, his mutual affection. For this reason she feels positively indebted to the Nihilists.

Chinese ladies wear rings of silk and beads on their fingers. The rings often protrude from the legs of a sartir girl, a pair of satin pantaloons much like the European garment in form. The custom of marrying the feet always affects the legs, which become very thin and shrivelled or deformed.

Grace Greenwood, writing from Milan, says that American singers, deviantes at Italian opera houses, are subject to the brutal treatment of a cruel trainer.

Two men, who were constantly had dead rats on them and the uproot and continue to be something despicable.
